LEARNING OUTCOMES: B.A. POLITICAL SCIENCE

PROGRAMME OUTCOMES

B.A. Programme: Political Science

The B.A. Political Science programme has been meticulously designed to provide students with a holistic and systematic understanding of the discipline. It introduces learners to the wide intellectual canvas of political science, encompassing its diverse subfields, methodological approaches, and thematic concerns. Beginning with foundational concepts and theoretical frameworks, the programme seeks to equip students with the analytical tools necessary to engage with the varied dimensions of political life—ranging from the nature of power, state, and governance to questions of justice, rights, and citizenship.

As the course progresses, students are exposed to how abstract concepts and theoretical debates are translated into real-world practices through institutions, policies, and political processes. This pedagogical structure not only bridges theory and practice but also familiarises learners with the comparative, historical, and contemporary contexts of political analysis. By engaging with both classical texts and contemporary scholarship, students are encouraged to interrogate established narratives, examine the intersections of politics with society, economy, and culture, and cultivate a capacity for independent and critical reasoning.

The programme further emphasises intellectual growth beyond disciplinary boundaries, preparing students to connect political science with related domains such as sociology, economics, history, and law. Through its diverse course offerings, it nurtures critical thinking, interpretative skills, and a nuanced understanding of complex political realities.

Ultimately, the B.A. Political Science curriculum is not confined to academic knowledge alone but aspires to develop informed, reflective, and responsible individuals. It enables students to make well-considered choices about their future—whether in higher education, civil services, policy-making, research, activism, or other professional spheres—while also equipping them with the analytical perspective to navigate life's broader social and political challenges.

Structure and Orientation of the B.A. Political Science Programme

The undergraduate curriculum in Political Science, designed under the Choice Based Credit System (CBCS), is structured to ensure a comprehensive and balanced academic exposure over three years. Students are required to complete four Discipline Specific Courses (DSC), two Discipline Specific Elective Courses (DSE), four Skill Enhancement Courses (SEC), and two Generic Elective Courses (GE).

The core or Discipline Specific Courses (DSC) are intended to provide students with a strong conceptual and foundational grounding in diverse aspects of political science, ranging from political theory and comparative politics to international relations and public administration. The

Feedback from Students, Teachers and Parents for the Session 2024-25

Students feedback on teachers for the session 2024-25 and the teachers feedback on curriculum and parents feedback on Institutional Support for Students' Growth and Learning have been collected to assess the performance of teachers, success of programmes, syllabi, workload, availability for study material, infrastructural facilities etc.

Objectives:

- The feedback from the students has been collected with the objective of assessing the strengths and weaknesses of the teachers and improving their teaching skills.
- The feedback on curriculum has been collected from teachers with the objective to help in evaluation of the suitability of courses, its usefulness, workload, availability of study materials, quality of evaluation system, etc. so that the required modifications can be made to improve the quality of education.
- The feedback on Institutional Support for Students' Growth and Learning have been collected with the objective of understanding the perception of parents about the various efforts put in by the institution in overall growth and learning of students.

The data has been collected by drawing the following sample randomly:

Students	Total Strength = 88	Sample taken = 81 (92%)
Teachers	Total Strength= 6	Sample taken= 6 (100%)
Parents	Total Student Strength =88	Sample taken= 20 (22.73%)

Note: Student and Teacher Strength as per Academic Session 2024-25

The relevant information has been collected from the teachers in well-structured questionnaire. Students' feedback on teachers has been collected on the structured questionnaire uploaded on NAAC website. The percentages of various scales, i.e., excellent, very good, good, satisfactory and unsatisfactory have been worked out and presented in tabular form and graphically.

Overall Suggestions

Based on the analysis of students, teachers and parents feedback for the session 2024–25, it is evident that the institution has received highly positive responses regarding syllabus coverage, teacher preparedness, communication skills, internal evaluation, and the overall quality of the teaching–learning process. Teachers also expressed satisfaction with curriculum relevance, balance between theory and application, institutional environment, and professional development opportunities. However, certain areas require attention, including enrichment of library resources, enhancement of infrastructure such as faculty rooms and reading spaces, and expedited completion of the college building. Students recommended the appointment of teachers for Music and Physical Education (Sports), as well as filling the vacant Librarian and Economics posts. Suggestions also include introducing a bus facility from Ramshehar to the campus, increasing internship and field visit opportunities, and expanding student-centric and skill development initiatives. These measures will help in further strengthening the academic environment, infrastructure, and overall student experience.
